

[name pronunciation: Jay-cee M-L-cow-ski]

Jacy Imilkowski (just think “I-milk-cows-on-skis” if you need to remember it) is a certified project manager, coach, and a certi-FIABLE communication nerd with over 20 years of experience coaching, training, and leading teams.

Using story, humor, and expertise she has developed and delivered hundreds of learning sessions to individuals and organization, teaching everyday tools and skills for building better communication and connection in our business and personal lives.

When not training she’s usually volunteering, gardening, or spending time with her amazing partner. She loves her dog, and she probably loves your dog too.